REAL ROCK MUSIC
THAT I DON'T MAKE

ABOUT US

A rock band with absolutely new perspective on the genre. Their compositions are directed to new horizons of the rock scene. If you want to listen something different this is the band you need.

Their music is based on the concept of trying to fusion different genres, different imaginary worlds, different fantasies in every song but keeping their own face. In the lyrics they point out the civilization problems of the society and mental world of the human being.

In terms of genre, the band moves in Crossover, meaning it mixes different musical genres, most of which are probably modern-Prog-Rock/Metal, with a pinch of Bluesrock, Funk and Ethno with melodic soul singing. (e.g. The Winery Dogs , Extreme , Ritchie Kotzen , Black Stone Cherry , Tool, Voivod, etc.)

“Does music which is a form of art have any common ground with science? Yep, that’s an easy one for me. They have and it is called experimentation. If we didn’t have that, then we wouldn’t have any of the musical genres we love (including heavy metal). STEVE MISIK & CO. and their debut album is a result of such an experimentation”

OUR VISION AND MISSION

The band is an artistic project of singer, musician, composer and lyricist Steve Misik. The artistic idea is to create songs that deviate from the standard approach, with an effort to create something new and interesting in the world of Rock music, trying to mix different musical genres, and not limit ourselves to fashionable trends and expectations of the mainstream. And most importantly, not to sound sterile like modern AI creations, so that our music sounds human without any AI intervention. The lyrics want to capture deeper thoughts that talk about something, not just empty verses with meaningless metaphors.

I have to admit that I have never heard such a unique combination of flamenco, eastern european folk and heavy metal music...about the song Shadows

THE PRESS ALSO SAID

„A slovak singing guitar player (and a skillful composer) Steve Misik is a quite interesting dude!“
With his band, he is hunting in a rich well of rock history and with a remarkable ease he composes pieces well known, yet together sounding fresh and unique into the playfull coctail. There is obvious piece of retro in it, or an admiration to classics, at the same time there is an unquestionable dose of recency and a playful retrieval. “

- Michal Husák / Rock & All

„Steve Misik&Co. have dig a nail into the hard rock wall, which can't be easily bent by many traditional rockers, or they won't even try. The band itself with is not balancing above the gap of shy sterility and with its confident flexibility they stay out of sharp points of awkwardness, that the experimenting with rock or non-rock genres brings up. This freethinking have nicely bend my knees after the first hearing and it reminded me a bizarre type of hang over.“
